SHERLOCK

Introduction:
 "A creative mind will discover new things".
 "The criminal is the creative artist; the detective is the only critic."
From the Adventures of Sherlock Holmes to the Hardy boys, crime and detective novels have always enthralled us in the process, inspiring many to dream of becoming a crime solver.
Here comes the Wissenaire'21 with the perfect stage for all those passionate about crime solving. Remember reading the stories or watching films about Hercules Poirot or Sherlock Holmes and complicated murder cases that always managed to amaze us with their endings.

Problem Statement:
• Wealthy, unmarried Anne Lamont is murdered, and she leaves her entire fortune to a man she met two weeks before, putting suspicion squarely on him. Detective Arnold thinks the man is innocent. He has a week to make his case before this goes before a jury. But when he digs into Anne's background, he finds the sweet old matron wasn't at all what she seemed.

• Imagine that you are that detective, how are you going to solve the case and ensure righteousness for the murdered lady. This plot should contain usage of sophisticated technology and betrayal. It must answer questions like, why that lady gave all her property to a not well-known man. Add as much twist and mystery as you can.

Rules and Regulations:
• The writing should not exceed 2000 words.
• Participants should submit it by mailing to competitions.wissenaire@gmail.com with the subject of mail as "Sherlock – Registration Id".
• Last date for submitting is 19th March 2021.
• Results will be declared shortly after the submission date.

Judging Criteria:
 • Literature, Creativity will be given major priority in judging.
 • Decision of the team Wissenaire is final.

Contact Details:

 Satya bhagavan,
 Event coordinator,
 Wissenaire'21
 Phone no: 9346916507,
 Mail id: msb12@iitbbs.ac.in